My view is that Visuals are the most powerful communication tool in our business.

Over the years I've produced thousands of visuals, of most project types and for all players within the design, development and construction industries. Please visit my website at www.smithdimes.co.uk to see in greater depth exactly what it is I do.

When the right kind of visual is chosen to reflect either the scheme, the audience or the design stage you're at, it really does make a huge difference to the positive response you get. Knowing this, I offer three general areas of visual type; sketch, concept and detailed.
